Why Edhwi ?

Edhwi is inspired by nature. Assuring to offer products of the highest quality, Edhwi has been processing to its best to showcase filtered refinement straight from the Nature. Staying fully engaged and passionate about delivering the highest standards of quality.

As a company, we conduct ourselves transparently, responsibly, and ethically. All of our actions need to meet public scrutiny. That is where our vision and mission will be based over the upcoming years.

Fresh

We procure coconuts of the highest quality from coconut farms, indicating that our products are fresh, and we know freshness is the key to quality.

Pure

The coconut oil offered by Edhwi is as pure as it can get. Our dedicated production team and expert recommendations have enabled us to produce the purest coconut oil, free from artificial enhancers or harmful chemicals.

Traditional

The production of Edhwi coconut oil is rooted in traditional practices. The copras are sun-dried in order to guarantee a rich taste. We do our utmost to avoid using artificial ingredients.

Process

Procurement: We buy very fine and matured quality coconuts from the farmers of coastal area. Here farmers and coastals areas both play decisive miles in our strategy to get the best quality coconuts.

Copra Processing: After disposing the blemished Copras from the spot, we move on to processing the copra or dried kernels. The broken coconuts are laid to sun-dry in the 'Kadappa' yard, in our hygienic plant site, that is perfectly conditioned to preserve the raw materials in their purest state, without using any chemicals.

Eventually the extraction is completed with the oil being micro filtered. Taking total advantage of sun drying, the positive climate at our site and timely processing to the dot, we do not find the common need for over-stacking and other avoidable practices. This is how the end result becomes smoke, dust and decay free substances that is pure coconut oil.
